CS 301R · FRONT-DOOR WORKSHOP

Stranger's Read

Reader _____

Project read _____

Read it the way a stranger would. Open the repository in a private, logged-out browser window. Read the README, then CONTRIBUTING, about five minutes each. Don't ask the author anything; if you'd have to ask, that's an answer, so write it down.

1 · What is this project? One sentence, in your own words, without copying theirs

2 · How would I start helping? The first concrete thing you'd do

3 · The one thing that most stopped me Where you got lost, had to guess, or would have given up

From the docs alone, I could tell:

☐ what it is ☐ whether it runs yet ☐ where it's headed ☐ how to help ☐ where to ask, and how soon they answer

Author: what you did about it ☐ Fixed in PR # _____ ☐ Filed as issue # _____

If the reader's answer to 1 isn't what you meant, your first sentence isn't done. Say "from the stranger's read" in the PR or issue, so the fix can be traced back to this sheet.

Hand the sheet back to the author. Author: finish acting on it, then photograph it and submit the photo with CP7.

CS 301R

CUT HERE

CS 301R · FRONT-DOOR WORKSHOP

Stranger's Read

Reader _____

Project read _____

Read it the way a stranger would. Open the repository in a private, logged-out browser window. Read the README, then CONTRIBUTING, about five minutes each. Don't ask the author anything; if you'd have to ask, that's an answer, so write it down.

1 · What is this project? One sentence, in your own words, without copying theirs

2 · How would I start helping? The first concrete thing you'd do

3 · The one thing that most stopped me Where you got lost, had to guess, or would have given up

From the docs alone, I could tell:

☐ what it is ☐ whether it runs yet ☐ where it's headed ☐ how to help ☐ where to ask, and how soon they answer

Author: what you did about it ☐ Fixed in PR # _____ ☐ Filed as issue # _____

If the reader's answer to 1 isn't what you meant, your first sentence isn't done. Say "from the stranger's read" in the PR or issue, so the fix can be traced back to this sheet.

Hand the sheet back to the author. Author: finish acting on it, then photograph it and submit the photo with CP7.

CS 301R